

Workforce Australia

Employment Services

Delivered by AKG

AKG's Workforce Australia—Transition to Work (TtW) program helps connect your business with work-ready young people, with a simple, no-cost employment service to address your workforce needs and support the local economy.

We have supported employers across Australia with their recruitment and training needs for over 30 years and helped thousands of young people kickstart their careers.

How we work with employers

Our experienced local recruitment specialists will talk with you to understand more about your business needs. We will advertise vacancies and screen candidates to make sure you are getting the right person for the job. We will also help with interviews if you need additional support.

Access government funding to support your business

We will help you access government subsidies for eligible candidates to support you in employing new staff. We support you in accessing additional funding for eligible occupations through the Australian Apprenticeships Incentive System if you are looking for trainees or apprentices.

Develop pre-employment training designed around your business needs

Through our networks of local training providers, we can assist you to set up targeted pre-employment training packages to prepare candidates and give them the skills they need to support and grow your business.

We offer support post placement

We will keep in touch to support you and provide extra assistance if you have any concerns with your new employee during their first six months of work.

We can arrange additional training for your new employee to further develop the skills they need to help your business or provide mentoring and support to help them stay on track after they start work.

The Transition to Work program helps young people aged 15-24 to develop practical skills and training to get a job

Our youth mentors prepare young people to enter the workforce by coaching them on workplace expectations, effective communication, and how to be successful in the world of work.

We also help with uniforms, PPE or work related licencing for your new employee if you have specific requirements for a job.

Want to learn more or talk to the team?

 1800 603 503

 employment@akg.com.au

Delivered by

akg.com.au